

Corporate Governance in Financial Institutions – Historical Developments and Current Problems

The Editors

Ingrid Elferink studied at the Archiefschool in The Hague. Afterwards she worked at the ministry of Internal Affairs. From 1994 until 2011 she was head of the Historical Archives of ING. Ever since 2012, after the separation of ING in Bank and Insurance, she started to work senior curator/archivist at the Historical Department of Nationale-Nederlanden.

Elferink is also a member of the board of the Dutch Association of Business and History (VBH). Main aim of the association is to bring together businesses, companies and institutions in possession of historical company collections in order to preserve these collections for posterity.

Joke Mooij was born in 1957 and has been the company historian of Rabobank since 2007. She studied Economic and Social History at the University of Groningen and holds a PhD of Tilburg University. From 1988 to 2007 she worked as a historian at the research department of De Nederlandsche Bank and has served on various committees. Besides, she is a member of the Academic Council of the European Association for Banking and Financial History (EABH) e.V. and has written extensively on the history of central banking in the Netherlands. Most recently she contributed 'Government and the Rise of Cooperative Agricultural Banks in the Netherlands', in H. Bonin, N.-V. Haueter, A. Gigliobianco, H. James (ed.), Public Policies and the Direction of Financial Flows, Bucharest 2012, or 'Rabobank an innovative Dutch bank: automation and payments instruments, 1945-2000', in B. Bátiz-Lazo, J.C. Maixé-Altés and P. Thomes (eds.), Technological Innovation in Retail Finance; International Historical Perspectives, London 2010.

Abe de Jong, born 1970, has been a Professor in Corporate Finance and Corporate Governance at RSM Erasmus University since 2006. He obtained his PhD in Finance at Tilburg University in 1999. His research and teaching interests are in the area of empirical corporate finance and include capital structure choice, dividend policy, risk management, corporate investment and divestment policies, and corporate governance. In addition, he works on the history of governance and finance in the Netherlands. His publications include De ratio van corporate governance, n.p. 2006, or in cooperation with Tao Jiang and Patrick Verwijmeren, 'Strategic debt in vertical relations: Evidence from franchising', in Journal of Retailing Vol. 87(3), September 2011, Pages 381–392.

Anders Perlinge, born in 1962, has served as business archivist at the Center for Business History in Stockholm (1986), curator at the Documentation Dept. of Nordiska museet (1991) and Head of Historical Records of former Stockholms Enskilda Bank (SEB) (1994), which position he still holds. He received his PhD of Ethnology on a dissertation in Swedish entitled Parish Bankers. Credit Relations and Early Banking. Vånga Parish in Scania, 1840–1900 in 2005. Today he is also a board member of the Institute for Economic and Business History Research at Stockholm School of Economics, and treasurer of the Swedish Cultural History Society. Furthermore, he has been Secretary of the Swedish Business Archives Council, and served as member of the Academic Council of the European Association for Banking and Financial History(EABH) e.V. As author of several articles on the history of credit his most recently published monograph in Swedish is The Bubble that Burst. The Building Boom in Stockholm, 1896–1908 in 2012.